

FOR ALL YOUR STRIVING

(D- major)

Preload: D - D2 - D - G - A - D

1. Sometimes you`re filled with ^Dgrieve and ^{D4}sorrow, ^D ^Gresponsible for this, you think, is ^Dfate.
^hYou might lose hope and belief in ^Dtomorrow,
^Gor in ^AGOD, and then might rise up ^Ahate.
^hBut the ways of life never go ^Dstraight, my friend,
^Gno guarantee, that you can ^Awin.
^GYou can believe, you create your own world, and ^D
^eyou determine, what comes out and ^Ain.

2. Now, if you moan, it`s all in vain, friend,
that you are a poor, pitiable guy.
You create your own joy and pain and all the troubles, so don`t sigh.
Stick to the motto for all your striving:
Don`t suffer, think positive and hold on,
do not drown in despair, diving
below the surface, when hope has gone.

3. May be that you follow your own track,
but you`ll get no influence on luck.
All things on earth react in resonance:
just as you saw, it will come back.
By all thoughts and by your actions you determine sense and worth of your own life, of your connections,
of all the things happening here on earth.

4. The mode how you`re taking and giving at long last influences your ways.
Heaven or hell, in which you`re living,
you`re the creator all your days.
Stick to the motto for all your striving:
Don`t suffer, think positive and hold on,
Do not drown in despair, diving
below the surface, when hope has gone.
