

THE ADULTERESS

( e - minor )

1. Take a look at this unworthy whore,
She deceived her husband just before
And according to the law and right
As a GODfearing man, what`s to decide?

Master, we took her in the very act.
a short time, but we saw it, that`s a fact
she must be stoned, must come to death.
We suppose, to the law you will confess.

2. But he ignored them looking to the ground,
Yet the Pharisees insisted all around pointing to the woman: "Now reflect!
he might throw the first big stone and reject,

and painted with a cane in the white sand.
on an answer, so he lifted up his hand,
If there`s someone in the crowd without a sin,
or with doing penance might begin.

3. Quite embarrassed the plaintiffs disappeared,
with purity, unchangeable and clear,
Thus Jesus faced the woman left alone
So get off, and don`t sin now further.

even Pharisees, otherwise with lifted heads,
withdraw with faces painted red.
and said: "No one`s damming you, I see.
I absolve you, too, well, you`re free!"

4. Realize, my friend, your own facades,
Don`t lift up to your neighbor killing blades,
By any judgment you`ll be your own gain,
adultery, theft, killing and disdain

dear off that veil transfiguring the view.
you`ll never by yourself God`s truth.
ill-will, suppression, violence, hate,
might exist in all hidden shades.

5. If we strike the balance quite sincere,
Any stone you lift up now and here,
Mind, before you`re calling for requital,
The Father doesn`t look for honor, title,

no one shows infallibility.
once it flies back, you will see.
the very last wise judgement comes from love.
