

TO ENLIGHTEN THE WORLD

(C – major)

Prelude: C – G – d – a – F – C – G – C – C

1. How many ^C times we meet a fellow being ^G
without to ^a notice his grief and need, ^F
and we ignore ^C cries for help ^G receding
from ^F inconvenience, ^G problems, defeat.
And often we are blind for ^F detraction ^a
Some people have to endure. ^F ^C
We go straight on, don't show ^F reaction, ^a not willing to clear up or to cure. ^F ^G

2. But what's hindering to show empathy
In world of self-conceit.
Friendly words can blast chains, you'll see,
and to trust a smile can lead.
People like to moan and grumble,
to show displeasure , discontent,
reproach false steps or refuse all
they don't like, like to pretend.

Interlude: C – G – a – F – C – G – F – G
F – a – F – C – F – a – F – G4 G

3. Tolerance for all confessions,
not use to follow the majority,
not to rise by might, oppression,
better to live in harmony,
that are marks of a true civilisation,
when we don't fight just for own bliss
when with kindness the world is enlightened, ^F ^a no need of self-interest, avarice. ^F ^{C G C} ^F ^C
