

AT THE GRAVE

(F – major)

1. ^F One thing is sure, ^g life here on earth ^d
^F when there will be a ^g spiritual birth, ^d
^{Ees} ^B ^F ^B Each of us will be affected,
^F ^d ^C ^d Our earthly trace here may be lost
^d ^B ^C ^F eternity will show us one day,

2. Our hearts can be filled with grief now;
Does the light of the burning candles
Is there not much more delight
There is the end of all suffering,
You can always rely on GOD`s promise:

3. God is the sovereign and creator
He`s omnipresent, wise and gracious.
Nothing can destroy his divine love,
Shouldn`t we indulge in getting
He will call us by our first name

^B ^F ^g ^C will end at the grave, when we are called,
^B ^F ^g ^C and we go back to heaven`s halls.
^g ^B ^F ^C no one can avoid it, he must return.
^B ^F ^g ^A or just a small flame for us will burn,
^B ^F ^d ^C ^F there is no need for doubt and concern.

shouldn`t we be grateful and relieved?
not point to the splendor of eternity?
without burden we have to bear.
only joy that we all can share.
our bond with him will never tear.

of all things in our universe.
He determines death, life and birth.
no one will be lost in nonentity.
merged in his great majesty.
and show us our true identity.

Interlude: ^B – ^C – ^d – ^B – ^F – ^{C4} ^C – ^F

4. And all of us who have to stay here should be driven by ambition
May the insight grow slowly,
from one another and makes differences,
We all are made out of the material,

and now look back on our shared past
to create a loving climate that will last.
nothing`s of use that separates us that only allows to argue and discuss.
you`ll see when we crumble back to dust.

5. May the union of human beings
Let`s learn to appreciate nature`s splendor
Death may disjoin us and lead to sorrow,
that is binding us together
Death just leads into a new dimension

be our desire and foremost goal.
and over resources regain control.
but it never cuts the bond of love
and that was given to us from above.
in which suffering ends for every soul.
