

REFLECTION

Prelude: a - C - G - e - a - C - G4 - G - a - C - G - e - F - G - E4 - E

1. The judiciary has a duty and task
but apparently there different points of view
at the cigarettes, which lead to death over time,
to those questionable countries

to punish murder, hurt and homicide,
if we look on the other side
and regard the armament sold with gain
that supress people and rule with disdain.

2. In the evening people sit there
as answers are being sought in quiz-shows,
They don't think about the fact that
than most of us can make in months.

and look mesmerized at the screen
what this and that could mean.
few correct answers can make more money
The question is, do we find this really funny.

Also in newspapers or on television
You're not asked, if you like it,
What we need is motivation
no devastating news,

constructive things are not to find.
The press leaves all scruples behind.
positive thinking, courage and trust,
no depressing facts, no darkening dust.

3. Advertising promises youth and beauty,
We should buy and use these items,
They arouse feelings of envy
The process is often very subtle.

health and power and success.
they want to bring us growth and happiness.
and activate desire and greed.
They convince us: all these things we will need.

End:

The state sets the tax on all obligations
But there are some of our elected officials to waste tax money as they see fit.
In the free economy tatters would fly.

it has to serve and that it should guarantee.
who believe, that they are right and free
Consequences are rarely drawn.
In such circles some of the bonds would be torn.
