1. Once I stood like in front of a mountain
Is it too risky to climb up and try,
But I decided to take the hazard
So I started exploring the new.

and I wasn't sure, what I should do.
despite the objections that I knew.
I felt courage, and my confidence grew.

2. There were steep rocks to overcome
Which signpost could you rely on?
I conquered a lot of elevations,
always ready to go on.

and some stages seemed very long.
Is the direction right or wrong?
interrupted by contemplative stations,

3. There was not always a straight path
There were tough times when the stages
And with each more stage more freedom, not to mention all the times I've been on the floor.

up to the mountain top, that I steered for.
became exhausting more and more,
a bit nearer to Garden Eden,

4. Even if I haven't yet reached the top,
It wasn't always easy to hold out, however my character grew through all the defeats.
To lapse into apathy for that life is too short.

I was able to learn and experience a lot.
looking back at the times that problems brought
The will to go on is what a person needs.
