

IT'S TIME TO LEAVE THIS PLAIN

(C-major)

1. A last sunbeam brushes my face,
The hour has now come for me to go
I think I can leave quite satisfied,
I can already perceive the tender light
I am ready now to take off,

Refrain: I am grateful for my path
for my discernment, for energy,
I have traveled to so many countries,
All in all, it was a good life,

2. It has been a long, long way,
and though the blessings often I had missed,
Sometimes defeats can steel our spirit,
But I always got the help I needed,
What's of importance, I've recognized.

Refrain: I am grateful for my wife,
She's always there when it matters,
She endures all of my mistakes,
I bow to her with admiration, thanks,

3. I'm not afraid of my last breath,
I turn away from worldly things,
I'm sure I'll come to a better place,
where tears and grief will run dry,
a place of security, filled with bliss.

Refrain: I am grateful for the deeds
for the friendship, for advice,
May some people now overflow
I will gladly fulfill their wish.

My boat will soon be untied from the jetty,
Just a little longer and I'll be free,

the sun sinks down in brilliancy.
to the place that someday everyone will see.
I've had good times in the earthly play.
which comes towards me from far away.
I've had a fulfilled life I can say.

and the fullness of existence,
for what has given me resilience.
got many impressions that remain.
now it's time to leave this plain.

not just characterized by elegance,
I would draw a positive balance.
even if they stir up doubts and force to fight.
encouragement, positive resonance.
I could experience the higher might.

for the path I could share with her.
I am grateful for her care.
all my troubles and my pain.
it's now time to leave this plain.

when my eyes will slowly close.
I don't need any more appreciation, growth.
where only pure love will remain,
where there's no worry and no pain,
I'm now ready to leave this plain.

that brought aid and relieved,
for all the warmth that I received.
with joy and breathe deeply again,
It's time for me to leave this plain.

a branch will be sawed off from trees in the rain,
it's time for me to leave this plain.
It's time for me to leave this plain.
